

Logan Hackett, Senior Geologist / Geochemist

A certified Professional Geologist with 16 years of experience as a geochemist and geologist, Logan's expertise includes geochemistry, structural geology, mineralogy, well drilling, well logging, well testing, conceptual/hydrogeologic modeling, and field program and project management and budgeting. As a senior project manager, Logan leads interdisciplinary teams that often include specialized subcontractors and Schlumberger Product Lines for successful project delivery. He has conducted geotechnical field work and developed comprehensive resource evaluations for geothermal projects around the world, and has undertaken many resource due diligence work for project investment, including acquisitions, project financing, and validation for risk mitigation support.